

LIFE.

The following remarkable compilation is a contribution to the San Francisco Times from the pen of Mrs. H. A. Denning. The reader will notice that each line is a quotation from some of the standard authors of England and America. This is the result of a year's laborious search among the leading poets of past and present times.

"lion dog" - i. e. one of the small, shaggy breed of the North - is, on the contrary, regarded as a possession likely to improve the fortunes of the family in which it may be domesticated.

Why Thermometers Vary. During the recent cold snap many statements of extraordinary low temperatures were made, and the great differences between local stations not far from each other have called forth much criticism and ridicule from those who have not closely studied the laws and conditions governing the subject.

When you come to Hartford, don't fail to call on the TONSORIAL PARLOR of HENRY PACE, over Bob & Jack's grocery.

As an illustration of the truth of this theory, on the morning of January 1st the current year, within a radius of four miles of Sandy Spring, Montgomery county, Md., embracing a moderately rolling country with probably not more than one or two hundred feet as the extreme variation of level, there was a difference of thirty degrees Fahrenheit, the range being from five degrees above to twenty-five degrees below zero, according to the elevations of the stations.

Why, a gang of sharpers had found the spee and built up a pole shanty and hung out a sign of First Baptist Church over the door. Time as shooting they had, and the law out there is no man shik a shaft within 200 feet of a church building.

That Terrible Child. A Galveston lady made a late afternoon call and had consented to stay to tea. The biscuits were a little heavy, and the guest, instead of eating them, showed them slyly into her pocket, but when urged to try one more by the lady of the house, the guest answered: "They are really delicious, but I can't take any more as I ate a late dinner. I never polished anything as much in my life."
